CONTENTION OF SOLICITOR ON BOND ISSUE SUSTAINED

Act of Legislature Would be Necessary Before Water Bonds Could be Issued

The contention of City Solicitor Samuel W. Emery, Jr., who informed Mayor Badger that the proposed issuance of $50,000 bonds for water purposes would be illegal and that an act of the legislature would be necessary before any such issue could be made, is sustained by Messrs. Ropes, Gray & Gorham, counsel for the First National bank of Boston. The following correspondence is self-explanatory:

GENERAL STRIKE IN LOWELL MILLS TO BE CONSIDERED

Action Will be Taken at Meeting on Sunday

LOWELL, Mass., May 31.—The question of ordering a general strike in the cotton mills of the city is to be considered next Sunday at a meeting of the central committee of the Industrial Workers of the World. The Greeks who are members of the Industrial Workers, and the operatives of several other nationalities have voted in favor of a general strike in sympathy with the several hundred mill hands at the Merrimack plant who are out because of differences with Agent Jude Wadleigh regarding pay for overtime work.

JOSEPH IS IN BAD

Sailor Pays Three Fines in Police Court in One Day.

Joseph Strunk, a sailor, has banded over $22.72 for fines of the police court within the last 24 hours. Joe thinks the city needs the money and he comes up with the coin as often as ordered. He was arrested on Thursday night charged with assault and yesterday morning he settled for $2.00 and costs, $3.21. He was no more than out when he was again charged with the same offense on two complaints. In each case he paid costs amounting to $5.26, and fines of $11.72. He was picked up again this morning and is due for the third deposit this afternoon. It looks as if Joseph is determined to go broke in his work of releasing money to the police department. So far the sport has been very costly and his reported visits at the headquarters is liable to end up in a draft.

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY IN UNITARIAN CHOIR

Charles W. Gray Has Been Director of Choir For That Length of Time

On Sunday, May 5, Charles W. Gray completed a quarter century as director and bass in the Unitarian quartet of this city. Very few singers enjoy this distinction, and in the musical circles it would be hard for any of them to duplicate his record.

In 1887 he took charge of the choir in this house of worship, succeeding the late Henry Harlow and with the exception of two months' forced absence by illness in the year of 1892, he has furnished the bass for the quartet as well as arranged the musical programs on special occasions that have been given by the choir, all of which have been musical treats to the people of this city.

Previous to the time he assumed the position as director and up to the present day the choir of the Unitarian church has been noted for its excellent work, regardless of what time has brought in the way of changes among its singers.

Mrs. Emma Flanders Williams soprano, Miss Emma Becker alto, Mr. Thomas Chase tenor were for years associated with Mr. Gray as the other members of the quartet and will be remembered, not alone for their

Furniture For Outdoor Living

The porch takes the place to a large degree of the indoor living room, the library and even the bedroom during the heated half year.

Porch furniture is an item of much greater importance than it was a few years ago. People recognize more every year the importance of the summer outdoors.

We've recognized this important new demand more this year than ever before and have prepared a splendid exhibit of exceptional attractiveness.

Willow furniture is light and not affected by dampness. Crex furniture is water-proof. Reed furniture is splendid for porch service. Old Hickory furniture will stand ages of weather. See the display of Old Hickory furniture in our windows.

WORST IN YEARS

Fish Very Scarce Off Maine Coast, But Weather and High Winds the Cause.

There is still no let-up in the stringency of the fishing conditions off the Maine coast. Bad weather with high winds seems to have been almost continuous during the past few weeks and the fishermen have not been able to land a fare of fish. Many of them say that not in a great many years has there been such a spell of weather to prevent operations as has prevailed this season.

Particularly serious is the bait situation. Herring are needed and needed badly but none of them has as yet put in an appearance and the cold storage plants are down almost to their last fish. Unless there is relief in a very short time, there will be the worst bait shortage in years.

CRAB'S WALK OF 98 MILES

Some remarkably interesting details regarding the movements and the homing instinct of the edible crab were presented to the Eastern Sea Fisheries Committee. During the past two years fishery inspector H. Donnison has been carrying out investigations on behalf of the committee, and the results of his work cannot fail to be of considerable use to those concerned in biological research.

In the course of an exhaustive report he stated that between July and September, 1910, nearly two thousand crabs were captured, and after being labeled were again set free along the Norfolk and Lincolnshire coasts. The crabs had recently cast their shells, and new ones were then in process of hardening.

Rewards were paid to fishermen upon returning the crabs when recaptured. They were returned to the sea at varying distances from the shore, and up to the present 21 per cent of the labeled crustaceans had been recaptured and full data tabulated.

With regard to the Norfolk crabs liberated in the places from which they were originally obtained, fifty-two were recaptured within one mile of their first home, but one traveled as far as Flamborough Head, a distance of ninety-eight statute miles. Nearly three hundred had traveled only three or four miles from where they were originally taken.—London Standard.

TAX COMMISSION BUSY

Assessors at Keene Criticized in Their Work.

The assessors of Keene have received a communication from Chairman Brown of the state tax commission asking them to suspend work on the tax lists for 1912 until a conference between the commissioners and the assessors has been held the commissioner stating that such a conference will be arranged at an early date.

An agent sent out by the commission to look up the appraisals and inventory totals in various towns was in Keene a few days ago and appears to have been of opinion that property in the city had not been assessed at its legal valuation presumably for the reason that the annual inventory is only about a million dollars more this year than it was for the year 1911.

The assessors explained to the agent that the Keene assessors had made a revaluation of all property in the city during the years 1910 and 1911, and that on account of this recent revaluation it would not be reasonable to expect a very marked increase in this year's valuation. The commission if informed of this fact does not appear to be satisfied that the property here is appraised high enough and therefore will investigate the matter for itself.

In his letter to the assessors Chairman Brown is understood to have stated that while the increase in valuation in other cities in the state has been from 0 to 50 per cent the increase in Keene has been only about 10 per cent which seems to him strangely out of proportion. Mr. Brown also states that there are a number of matters which he desires to discuss seriously with the assessors.

CEMENTJOHN DOE COMMITTED SUICIDE IN STATE PRISONThe Mysterious Prisoner Who Killed Italian at Rockingham Junction at Last Accomplishes His End.

The mysterious life inmate of the New Hampshire State Prison at Concord known as John Doe, no reliable information ever having been secured as to his real name and past history, committed suicide in his cell Thursday night by hanging himself to a grating with a rope made from his mattress. He was dead when found by a guard.

On Feb. 10, 1906, Doe and an accomplice, Joseph Gouin, after robbing a safe in Dover, boarded a train at Rockingham Junction and killed an Italian passenger in the smoking car. Both were captured after an exciting chase across the country and brought to this jail and on May 15 in Exeter they were sentenced to prison. Doe for life and Gouin for 30 years.

Gouin was transferred to the State Hospital as an insane person, and on April 22, escaped from that institution, and is still at large.

On Nov. 11, 1910, Doe secured a knife and ran amuck at the prison, seriously wounding the prison physician, Dr. R. E. Callinger, and the deputy warden, Frank D. Bailey. Since that time he had been in solitary confinement, being regarded as the most dangerous man ever in custody in the New Hampshire State prison.

John Doe, when he was first arrested, told the writer that he wanted to be hanged. He said, "I am a dead one and I don't propose to remain in any prison." Asked how he proposed to help it, he said, "I will get a chance, and if I don't some guard will finish me."

He was determined to keep in trouble and no prisoner ever in that institution has ever caused so much trouble.

AGAIN IN TROUBLE.

Joseph Stunk, a sailor who was fined over $20 in police court Friday afternoon for assault, was arrested again Friday evening by Officers Philbrick and Kelley on Water street, where he was causing more trouble. He put up a fight with the officers and he will face court again this afternoon.

BUS RUNNING TO GREENLAND.

The new auto bus which will run between this city and Greenland, and later also to New Castle, has arrived and it began running on a regular schedule on Friday morning. The bus is a fine looking affair capable of seating 22 people and it makes the trip between this city and Greenland in less than 30 minutes. At present trips are made every two hours, leaving this city from Congress street on the odd hours.

It is later proposed to run to New Castle and leave here for that trip on the even hour. It is hoped that the promoters can make it pay and they will be given every encouragement. The fare to the Country Club and Greenland Parade is 10 cents.

NO GAME WET GROUNDS.

The Sunset League schedule was up-set on Friday evening by wet grounds, and the Riverside and P. C. U. game was called off. It will be played at some time to be designated by the League directors.

"Old" Cy Young Quits Game
Because of Lane Pitching Wing

Boston, June 1.—Cy Young, the greatest wonder in the history of the diamond, has sent word to the management of the local National league club that he has decided to quit the game for good. He finds that the great pitching wing which won over 500 victories during his twenty-four years stay in the major leagues, has gone back on him. The veteran has been endeavoring all spring to get into shape, but it is now evident that his arm is "dead." Financially the "grand old man of baseball" is well fixed, having $75,000 in the bank and a splendid home to spend the rest of his days in.

CASWELL IS BETTER

Superintendent Albert J. Trotter of the county farm at Brentwood was in this city on Friday. Mr. Trotter said that the condition of George Caswell, 46 years old, of Plaistow, the alleged wife murderer, who shot the right side of his face off with a shot gun, is somewhat improved. While it was at first said that Caswell could not live, it is now said that he has an even chance in the fight against death.

COAL GETS BIG INCREASE HERE

The people of this city are greatly interested in the press dispatches to the effect that the increase in the price of coal in New York and other places has started an investigation. The people of these places want to find out what the reason the operators have for increasing the price of coal 25 cents a ton, when they only advanced the miners pay, so that the coal will cost them five cents a ton more, and where the extra 20 cents a ton goes.

Here everybody is wondering what would they do if they had the situation in this city to contend with. Here the price of coal has been advanced from $1.00 to $1.50 a ton over prices last spring. That is last spring at this time the price of coal was $6.25, and for that same coal the consumer will this year pay $7.75 for nut, $7.50 for egg, an advance of $1.50 and $1.25.

Five cents a ton increase to the miners has certainly grown to be a good healthy increase to the people of Portsmouth.

NEW ENGLAND SHOULD BE CONSIDERED

Gov. Foss of Massachusetts should be commended for his efforts in trying to convince the Massachusetts legislators of the feasibility of passing a bill to allow the North and South stations in Boston to be connected by a terminal as well as the passage of other railroad measures advocated by President Charles McLen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

The connecting of these two stations by a terminal as well as East Boston is believed by many would be of inestimable value to the handling of New England railroad traffic. All New England hopes that Gov. Foss will succeed in making the Massachusetts representatives realize that there are other sections of New England besides Boston to be considered in the matter of railroad facilities.

The Springfield Republican says the worst failure ever in the White House, in the opinion of the great majority of the American people, after the battle of Chancellorsville, in the late spring of 1863, was President Abraham Lincoln. There had been over two dreary years of defeat and failure, and even a year later, prior to Gen. Sherman's successes in Georgia, there seemed only a slight chance that Lincoln would be re-nominated by the republican party. Mr. Roosevelt loves to appeal to the memory and the great name of Lincoln. From what is known of Mr. Roosevelt, however, it is certain that he has been privileged to observe critically the war president in the spring of 1863, he would have declared that he "meant well feebly," was controlled by bosses, was directed and advised by incompetents, and was altogether and unqualifiedly unfit to be president of the United States.

The New York Evening Post says the first Cuban newspapers to come to hand since the breaking out of the rebellion make clear the suddenness with which the blow fell. Havana was in the midst of celebrating the tenth anniversary of the independence of the Cuban republic, when the news came of a revolt that threatened its life. The existence of the "independent party of color" was, of course, well known and its demands understood, but there was apparently no thought that the negroes would take up arms. As soon as the gravity of the movement was perceived, however, there was an instinctive feeling that Cubans must drop their political differences and bend every energy to the restoration of order.

If the advice of the Department of Agriculture to eat English sparrows is generally taken, the Chicago meat trust will probably proceed to corner them.

Now that Nicaragua has declared the treasury empty there may be less anxiety on the part of revolutionists to control the combination of the safe.

A candidate who can "eat up his opponent alive" is called for, and some of them have already demonstrated their capacity therefor by eating their own words.

The politicians should be careful how they show themselves needlessly at the convention, for if they hang around in sight they may get nominated for vice president.

It is said that patriotism has declined since the days of the fathers, yet 30 per cent of our citizens were willing to undergo the suffering and hardship of voting at the primaries.

ORIGIN OF THE WORD "STEEL"

Ancients Made It, But They Are Said Not Actually to Have Named It.

"We do not know much," writes C. W. Ernst in the Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel Association. "We do not know where the word 'steel' came from, nor do we know the original meaning. A leading 'authority' claims the word as having started in England; he is sure mistaken, as the records show.

"When the word first appeared in English or Anglo-Saxon it had become a proper name on the continent, showing the general diffusion of the term. We are equally disappointed in the Greek and Roman classics. They knew how to harden soft iron, but had no name for the finished product we call steel.

"The Greeks obtained a good brand of steel from the Chalybes at Sinope; that brand they called 'chalybs' or 'chalybes,' and the Romans adopted the term. But the common people did not use the word, which occurs mainly in poetry. It was so used by Aeschylus about 475 B. C. and in Latin by Virgil a few years before the Christian era.

"When the writers of good Latin prose wished to convey the idea of steel they were apt to use the word 'acies,' which means a sharp edge or a sharp point. In the third century of our era we find the word 'aciers' and later still the word 'aciarium' whence the French 'acier,' meaning steel.

"The word 'steel' has not been found prior to the eighth century. It occurs in the so-called Apollon gloss, where 'steel' is given as the Anglo-Saxon equivalent of the late Latin 'acciarium' just mentioned. Students wishing to verify this may consult Henry Sweet's edition of the gloss, 1883, page 2.

"At that time the word was common on the continent and had become a proper name, both as 'simple steel' or in compounds like 'stahart.' We have no word like 'steel' before the eighth century; we have no trace of the French 'acier' before the third century. Yet men made steel in the days of Homer and before his time in India. But even in the best days of Greece and Rome they hardly knew cast iron. Their iron statues were made of wrought iron and only trivial examples of cast iron are of classical antiquity.

"To 'temper,' meaning to harden wrought iron by heating and then dipping it in cold water, is a term used by Pliny. The process of 'tempering,' of course, is much older. It is mentioned in Homer and may have been known long before."

Orange Caramel Sauce.

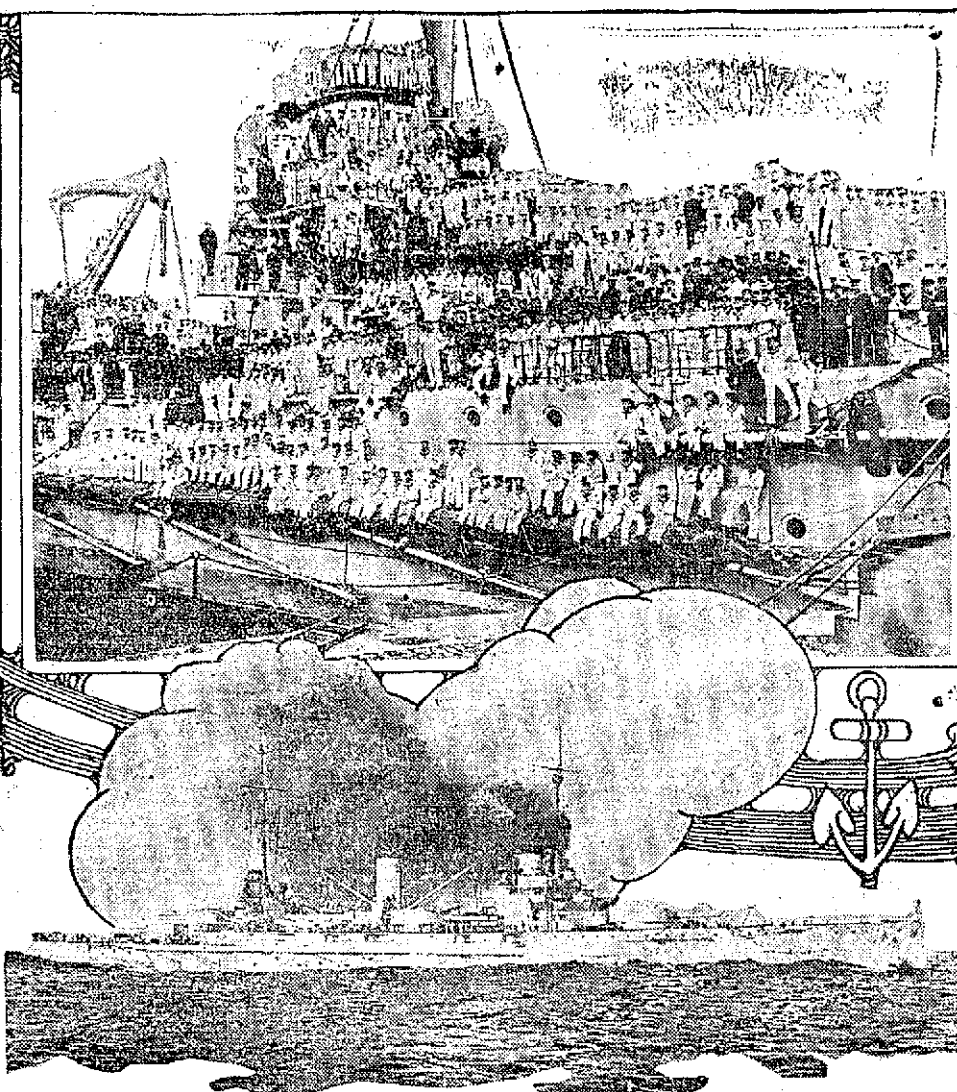

One-half cup of butter melted, one cup sugar, added to the butter and cooked till it is a thick sirup. About 30 minutes is enough. Prick an orange with a silver fork till the oil is started and put it in the sirup whole turning over now and then with the fork. It should be a rich golden color, something like burnt orange. Very good with poor man's pudding or with rice cooked in the southern style.

To Bake Cakes.

Place the cakes close to the bottom of the oven when cooking, as cakes are better when raised from the bottom first. If the heat strikes the top of the cake first it crumbles over the top and then, in order to rise, it breaks the crust and runs through, leaving unsightly cracks in the top of the cake.

World's Speediest Cruiser, Moltke, Flagship of German Squadron, to Visit the United States.

Photos by American Press Association.

The cruiser Moltke is the flagship of a squadron of German warships which has been dispatched across the Atlantic by Emperor William II. for the purpose of returning the friendly call made by an American squadron to Germany just a year ago. The Moltke is declared to be the swiftest fighting ship above the destroyer type. She is larger in every way than any American warship afloat today—larger than any of the six American Dreadnoughts now in service. Her length is 610 feet, she is 90 feet 9 inches beam and of 22,632 tons displacement.

Hubbitt Youngsters Dearly Love Story Telling at Public Library—School Children Cheerfully Help to "Swat that Fly"—A New Twist to the Suffrage Argument—Boston Writer Urges Representation by Occupational Areas—Summer Conventions Begin to Strike Nation's Mecca of Vacationists

BOSTON, June 1.—The marked success of the "story telling hour" inaugurated by the Boston public library trustees a year ago has resulted in the extension of the plan to the entire circuit of branch libraries as fast as arrangements can be perfected. The "Story-Lady" as she is called by the children otherwise known as Mrs. Mary W. Cronan, had endeavored herself to the boys and girls who now gather at the branch reading rooms at the appointed hour in increasingly large groups. Indicative of the interest in this weekly story hour is the fact that at the second "telling" of the season at the South Boston branch, 109 boys crowded into the room to listen. From short twenty minute stories at the first, before the children have formed the habit of concentration or following a sequence of ideas, in the telling of the story of some book which requires the full hour is the procedure followed by the story teller. Well balanced programs of short tales following the more serious subjects have been successful. The result as watched and noted by Horace G. Wadlin, librarian, is an appreciable increase in the use of the library by children, and the fact that they are seeking literature of a much higher order than was sought before the story telling began. World topics are called for by these boys and girls, and such works as in ordinary events would scarcely come into their hands.

The annual influx of summer conventioners to the Hub is well under way. The Fourth national conference on city planning took place in the early part of the week, with entertainment by the Chamber of Commerce, the Boston City club and other organizations, and trips of inspection to various points in Greater Boston. A generally interesting feature of this convention was the exhibition of photographs and drawings showing the municipality in historic days which was on view at the public library throughout the conference. The latter part of the week was given over to the state convention in the interests of industrial education, with a banquet at the City club and sessions at Wentworth Institute and the Women's Educational and Industrial union, besides several business meetings. The convention was held under the auspices of the Massachusetts state branch of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education, the Massachusetts state board of education and the educational committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. Another event which brought a large number of musicians to the city was the twelfth annual convention of the Phi Mu Alpha chapter of the Sinfonia and Greek letter organization founded by Ossian Mills now bursar of the New England Conservatory of Music, and composed of past and present members of the conservatory. Among the events of this occasion will be a banquet at the Boston Art club, a notable concert by the Conservatory orchestra and members of the Alpha chapter and the awarding of the gold medal offered some time ago by the Sinfonia for the best piece of chamber music composed by a male musician. Thus the summer season of visitors to the New England metropolis has begun early and promises to continue to fill the city with welcome strangers and old friends.

Fly catching competitions are now on in the schools of greater Boston and among the Boy Scouts. Thanks chiefly to the activities of the Women's Municipal league and the cooperation of the public schools, lectures illustrated by lantern slides have been given in the various schools for some time with the purpose of impressing upon the children's minds the importance of the typhoid danger. Traps have been supplied to school pupils and various methods of competition inaugurated. In one school each pupil was furnished with a trap, but this method was found less successful than that of furnishing two girls or boys with traps with the injunction to see who could first catch 100 flies. It is planned to place traps in the waiting rooms of the Boston Dispensary, especially in the children's department, both for the purpose of urging the dangers of the pest and as a means of protecting the hospital. Literature on the subject with the directions for prevention and trapping of flies has been sent to the scout masters of Boy Scout organizations all over New England and it is intended to provide each of the groups in greater Boston with traps, at the same time taking all possible measures to arouse interest by competition and other means.

x x x

A Boston writer who expresses his conviction that the Constitution of the United States is distinctly antiquated and that representation of the people may be fairer and more efficient by occupational rather than geographical divisions has incidentally given a new twist in the suffrage argument which the suffragists should, and doubtless will, use to advantage. Frederick W. Coburn author of an article on "Occupational Representation" in the current Twentieth Century magazine, says among other things that the failure of legislatures to keep up with movements for a better ordering of life is due, not to innate depravity of the electorate and its representatives, but to defective organization. That the present geographical units are as distinct, and their separate interests as integral, as before the invention of steam and electric railroads, telephones, telegraph and newspapers, is tacitly assumed by the continuance of the ancient feudal form. It is also assumed that the only necessary form of representation is territorial. Yet every occupation would find its legitimate interests better protected and promoted if it had representatives on the floors of Congress and the state capitals. The idea would be to have the senate represent geographical areas and the house of representatives the various occupations. "How voiceless many of the most important callings are," the author goes on to say, "so far as direct representation in our legislatures is concerned, is a matter of popular comment."

The most vital of all arguments for woman suffrage is implicit in the proposal that occupations be represented. The current objection that votes for women will merely double the number of the electorate and render the machinery of politics twice as cumbersome and expensive as additions, without changing political conditions, has considerably force under the theory of geographical representation. There is no reason why women should vote just for the fun of voting. Suffragists already plead representation of the home and the home-making instincts and activities. They vote as housekeepers as mothers of children as wage-earners not as residents of the third precinct of the fifth ward of the first city of the seventh congressional district. Occupational representation would give the wage earners a new means of protecting themselves against excessive exploitation and would raise the standards of wages and of living in each industrial group, thus eliminating to a large extent the suspiciousness, the petty meanness and jealousies which are a mark of false economic conditions and relationships.

The Morley Button Company is aiding further improvements to the property on Islington street in the way of beautifying the grounds fronting the buildings.

Ready About July 1

About July 1 the Portsmouth Gas company will put the new storage tank off Water street in operation. The tank will be fed by a new 12-inch line just laid from the plant on Bow street through Mulberry street to Water street. Once in use, the company is certain that there will be a great improvement in the city service.

A Fine Band

The Eureka Drum Corps of the Franklin Police association made its first appearance on Decoration Day, with new uniforms, new faces and a lot of new music. Everywhere along the line of march they were complimented for their fine appearance; good marching and excellent playing. The band is certainly a credit to the organization and to the city.

FAR APART

No Fight Likely in Mexico for Week at Least.

EL PASO, Texas, May 31.—The advance guard of the Mexican federalists has reached a point of five miles south of Santa Rosalia, and 105 miles south of Chihuahua, according to a telegram received early today from General Huerta by E. C. Lorente, the Mexican consul here. Prospects of a battle for at least a week are remote, as the northward path of the federalists is temporarily blocked by burned bridges.

The advance from Jimenez now the federal base, was made under trying difficulties. The twenty-five miles of track had been torn out by the retreating rebels. Every bridge and culvert was destroyed by dynamite or fire. General Huerta's headquarters are in Jimenez.

From Colonel Aguilar, chief of the federal garrison at Torreon, again came denial today that the rebels had captured either Torreon or its suburbs, Gomez, Palanca or Lerdo.

The rebel authorities in Juarez this morning again annulled the day train service to Chihuahua.

MAKES VERY DAINTY DESSERT

Little Caramel Puddings Are Easily Made and the Folks Will Appreciate Them.Into a clean, dry frying pan put one-half of a cupful of granulated sugar and set on the side of the fire where it will melt slowly. No water is to be added, and by the time the sugar is entirely melted the syrup should be of a clear, golden brown color. If the fire is too hot the syrup will be too dark and the burnt flavor too pronounced. Have ready some small cups or timbale molds. Pour a little of the caramel in each, turning them round and round in order to coat the sides and bottom as evenly as possible. The amount given should be sufficient for five or six small cups. In a bowl break four eggs, add four tablespoonfuls of sugar and beat enough to mix well. Add one pint of milk and one teaspoonful of vanilla and stir occasionally until the sugar is dissolved. Then fill the molds, set them in a pan of warm water and bake in a moderate oven until they are firm in the center. If baked too fast they will be full of bubbles. When done pass a knife around the sides and turn out on individual plates. The caramel, uniting with a portion of the water in the milk, serves to form the sauce.
Serve cold.

working device that insures a perfect heating contact. The outer pan is made of heavy copper with inner pans double lined and finished in nickel, silver or copper. The electric current passes through wire embedded in fired enamel inside of the stove, fused to the iron plate that forms the top. This gives direct transmission of heat, insuring maximum results with minimum current. A regulating switch beneath the stove gives three degrees of heat, each one even, steady and dependable. This is an important consideration in successful cooking. The stove can be used by itself for toasting—Popular Electric.

I WONDER

Why the Western Union Telegraph

PEVERLY DAM HOLDS BACK BIG BODY OF WATER

The heavy rains of this spring have given this city something they have lacked for a long time and that is a sufficient commercial water supply. At the present time the water is within two feet of the top of the new dam at Peverly Brook, and it is expected that the spill way will have to be used soon. This places in storage a vast body of water which will be sufficient for commercial purposes for a long time. The dam itself is practically finished, just a few small matters remain to be done.

CAPT. ROSTRON FURTHER HONORED BY SURVIVORS

NEW YORK, May 31.—The triumphant march of gallant Capt. Arthur Henry Rostrom, lauded by the United States Senate and voted a $1000 gold medal for his rescue work aboard the Cunard liner Carpathia after the Titanic tragedy, carried him into one of the most exclusive 5th avenue homes today.

He was formally entertained at luncheon at the home of Mrs. John Jacob Astor, 840 5th avenue, by Mrs. Astor and Mrs. John Bradley Cummings of New York and Mrs. John B. Thayer of Haverford, Penn. Dr. McGee, surgeon of the Carpathia, was also a guest.

These three women were made widows by the foundering of the Titanic. It was the first time the little party of rescued and rescuers had met since the Carpathia reached New York with the survivors and turned them over to sorrowing friends and relatives.

At that time they, like others, were dazed by the horror of the disaster and were suffering from their exposure in open boats on a sea of ice. The kind treatment of the officers on the Carpathia did much to mitigate their sorrow and sufferings, and they desired to show Capt. Rostrom their appreciation.

Mrs. Astor, in her delicate state of health was an object of special solicitude on the part of Dr. McGee during the trip to New York, and he also ministered to the other two ladies.

They would like to have met every officer and every member of the crew, but this was impossible, so they arranged an informal luncheon for the captain and surgeon, hoping in this way to show their appreciation and gratitude before those officers go back to England.

There was no formality about it. It was a simple luncheon, attended by these named members of Mrs. Astor's family and a few close friends. Mrs. Astor has been in strict retirement since she reached New York and it was her first social event of any description. On the voyage to New York Capt. Rostrom gave his cabin to Mrs. Astor, Mrs. George D. Widener of Philadelphia and Mrs. Thayer. Mrs. Widener is prevented from attending the testimonial luncheon today by illness.

Last night, at the Winter Garden, Capt. Rostrom was the object of a remarkable demonstration. He had the other officers of the Carpathia were guests of the management. Soon after entering their box they were recognized by the big holiday audience and formally introduced by Al Johnson, a comedian. The orchestra played the "Star Spangled Banner" and everybody got up and sang. Then it played "God Save the King," and everybody sang again. Capt. Rostrom

$3.50 Recipe Free For Weak Men.

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop dragging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting, restorative, rebuilding, Spot-Touch remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quickly and quietly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4724 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

and his officers joining in.

Three cheers were called for and given in a way that made the walls tremble, and the performance seemed to be forgotten. Then there came demands for a speech, and Capt. Rostrom finally leaned over the edge of the box and made a few remarks.

Tonight Capt. Rostrom will go to Haverford for a brief visit at Mrs. Thayer's home before the Carpathia leaves New York again for Europe. Mrs. Thayer's husband was one of the directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

FERRETS STILL USED IN HUNTING

"There's a good deal of hunting of rabbits with ferrets, even where the sport is in violation of the law," said a resident of a rural district not far away from New York. "If it wasn't so I wouldn't make a tolerable good living out of raising ferrets to meet the demand for them."

"Ferret hunting for rabbits was allowed by law in New York state last year, and it was allowed because of the petition of farmers and fruit growers, who complained that the rabbits were increasing so that they had become destructive nuisances, and the only hope of abating that nuisance somewhat was in turning ferrets out on their trail during the open season. Ferrets had been in use however, on the quiet, from time on of mind by men and boys out after rabbits in New York, as well as elsewhere."

"Instantly, though some folks raised a cry that the innocent and frisky little cottontail would be exterminated by ferret hunting; and, besides, it was cruel and unbecoming sport. The little gray rabbit, they declared, was not the rabbit that gnawed the fruit trees and did other damage to the farmer. It was entirely innocent of such ravaging."

"The rabbit that was guilty of the tree gnawing was the big white rabbit, the jack rabbit of localomenclature, they declare. That growing, long-legged beast was the offender, and, pity of it all, against that big rabbit the ferret was useless for the jack rabbit never ran to cover in the ground elsewhere, but kept on its course at a speed that no ferret could hope to overtake, even if the ferret should be inclined to understand the feat which he has never had."

"There is something doing in the ferret line, nevertheless, I should imagine, as I have raised, trained and sold as many as 2000 of the eager and willing little weasels within a year. Of course, these were not all used locally, nor were rabbits the only purpose for which they were bought."

"They are unexcelled and natural raters and many of them are bought by persons anxious to clean their premises of rats and by professional rat catchers. But enough of them were taken for rabbit hunting to demonstrate that there are a good many rabbit hunters on the job who don't regard rabbit hunting as being worth while without a ferret to run into the verge of the quarry at the end of a chase and bring out the game."

"I retain them for the rabbit hunt. When taken into the field for hunting they have been taught to obey the hunters just as readily as the rabbit dogs do. The ferrets are carried by hunters in sacks that can be thrown over the shoulder by means of a strap."

"When hunting rabbits with ferrets, though, the dog must be taught that the ferret is working with them and isn't game to be bagged. It is no easy task to train a good rabbit dog, but on the dog what the ferret is there for and after that he and the ferret will be the best of friends on a rabbit hunt."—Boston Herald.

TO INVESTIGATE ADVANCE IN COAL

NEW YORK, May 31.—The committee of the Merchants' Association to investigate the advance in the price of domestic hard coal will begin its work next week, and several operators, it is expected will be asked to come to the hearings and answer questions. Coal dealers also will be requested to appear.

This is the first time the coal trade has undertaken an investigation of this kind. Henry R. Towne, president of the association, said that while the committee had no power to compel the attendance of the operators, it was hardly likely that they would refuse to testify. Mr. Towne said:

"We are not going off at half cock on this matter. It is the public's right to know everything about the case."

"The price of anthracite has been increased since 1902 and now 25 cents a ton has been added, ostensibly because the wages of the miners have been increased a little over 5 percent. New York, which on account of the anti-smoke ordinance, has to burn anthracite coal, is particularly interested in the matter."

MAN KILLED AT BOSTON NAVY YARD

BOSTON, May 31.—Mark Roche, 46 years old, married, and living at 39 Seely street, Charlestown, was instantly killed while working in the hold of the United States Collier Hector at the Charlestown Navy Yard, at 7.10 this morning, and two of his companions narrowly escaped a like fate.

The men, employed by V. S. Bohnerty, a coal contractor, were in the forward part of the after hold of the ship unloading the cargo of soft coal, and had hunkered well down in the pile when there was a quick movement of the top and sides of the excavation and what is known as a coal slip followed, in which Roche was buried beneath mountains of coal, and John T. Shea and Timothy Kerrigan, fellow workers, were caught on the outer edge of the slip and partly covered with the coal. Shea and Kerrigan managed to extricate themselves and gave the alarm, which resulted in more help being put at the task of digging for the buried Roche, who was many feet below the top of the coal pile in the hold. It took just 50 minutes for the coal shovellers to reach the body of Roche, which was badly bruised, and after the yard surgeon had examined him Roche was pronounced dead.

Medical Examiner D. George R. McGrath viewed the body and said that death was due to suffocation.

PLENTY OF PROOF.

From People You Know—From Portsmouth Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced by evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of Portsmouth, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

B. A. Berry, 147 Congress St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: Doan's Kidney Pills were used by a member of my family proved of great benefit. The person referred to suffered terribly from lame back and was often stiff and sore. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, a box was procured at Phillips' pharmacy and their use begun. This remedy promptly disposed of the complaint."

The above statement was given July 19, and on June 26, 1911, Mr. Berry said: "I willingly confirm the public statement I gave six years ago recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. The cure this remedy effected has been permanent."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

What Paymaster General Says

Rear Admiral Cowie paymaster general of the navy, in speaking of the work of William Jacobus, the scrap expert, recently, at this yard, has the following to say: "To show to what extent we have gone along the line of economy, the secretary recently employed an expert on scrap and sent him around the different yards to segregate scrap heaps and we find it is going to result in a great saving to the Government. What we sell, we will get a much better price for, and not only that, he has prevented the selling of a good many things that could be used in our foundries. Recently while he was at Norfolk some scrap metals if sold would have brought 5 or 6 cents a pound. This was shipped to Washington, I hear, and will be re-used there. About 125,000 pounds that would cost the government from 14 to 16 cents to purchase. I believe this man is going to save the Government a great deal of money in this way."

ROBBED AND EVICTED

American Colonists in Mexico Stripped of Everything.

MAZATLAN, Mex., May 21.—Americans are being robbed and evicted from their properties in southern Sinaloa, said Manager Musik of the Concha ranch, who arrived here with four others from Concha yesterday. They made their way on a hand car for eighty miles, when rebels compelled them to leave with only a few clothes and what money they could conceal. Sunday morning Canedo and 300 rebels raided the Concha ranch. They took all horses and equipment arms ammunition and food for man and beast, leaving the colonists absolutely stripped of necessities. Manager Musik showed a "salvo conducto" from rebel leader Tirado, but it was declared worthless.

After warning the Americans to leave, Canedo said: "Your people in Mexico are to be attacked."

The Concha colonists are from the vicinity of Fargo, N. D. There is not an American left on the place.
